

Contented Living is a co-living accommodation provider serving nonlocal university students and young professionals who face budget concerns in the high residential rental cost in Hong Kong. By re-utilized the wasted space of vacant or run-down old buildings, CLL helped to increase the housing supply, and provide safe and affordable space for youths.

- Re-utilized the otherwise wasted space of vacant or run down old buildings: Master-leasing old buildings release the vacant residential spaces back to rental market and provide more supply in this city where high costs have denied many youngsters for an affordable living
- Provide low cost accommodations for graduated students and young professionals
- Extended life of fixtures to reduce waste by the sharing of fixtures, extends their life, and consequently reduce waste and environmental pollution.

Social Impact:

- Refurbished 10 old buildings with 423 beds at an affordable price
- Over 3000 young/ lower income tenants served
